Seasonal Frost Harms Few Tender Vegetables But Is Beneficial To Leaf Crops

Most Potatoes Damaged But Little Damage To Beans

A twenty-five year record of frosts in the Glades shows that come December 18th normally one or more heavy frosts may be expected in the outlying areas away from the Lake, so the frost of this week only surprised those not acquainted with Glades agriculture.

Some fields of beans close in were nipped, and some carried on the books of the farmer as of problematical destiny were affected by the frost.

Only slight damage to the more tender grasses such as para, pangola and Canb was reported, with a slight tinge on a few St. Augustine tips.

Ramie leaves in the Shawano Drainage District were frosted, as is to be expected at this time of year.

Vero Beach Beats Belle Glade 45-39

Fouls in the first quarter which were called in by big "Radar" Williams led to Belle Glade's cage debut downfall here last Friday night as Vero Beach won 45-39.

Center Williams hit for 26 points in the game, eight of them from the foul line in the final period. Vero piled up a lead of 10-8 in the first period before the Rams mustered six points in the second quarter. BG was out in front in the half with a score of 19-18. The third period added one, 30-30, but those fouls turned the tide in the fourth.

Lavon Bass' nine points for the Rams. Maiters called Bobby Joe of the Rams fouled out in the last period.

In the preliminary, BG beat the Vero team 45-45 as Harry McDonald sank a long shot as the game ended. He had 13 points in the game. The box score:

Years of Work In Glades Results In Marked Improvement In Venereals

Harvey Puals being honored by a presentation of Award for years of service in directing the State Board of Health's campaign against venereal disease among the negro population of the Glades. The award was presented by the State Board of Health, administrative details, investigations, follow-up and education were among the duties of Harvey's Committee.

Venereal disease — the giant in Florida's communicable disease picture — has lost considerable stature in the last 10 years. In 1942, Florida led the nation with a syphilis rate of 405.9 for each 1,000 Negro men examined for selective service; ranked third with a rate of 53.3 for White men examined, and second with a combined rate of 158.6. Even as late as July 1952, Florida ranked third in the nation in the total syphilis cases reported. Yet the problem of venereal disease in the State has shown a steady decline, reported Dr. William A. Walter of the State Board of Health's Bureau of Preventable Diseases. In 1943, a total of 33,601 previously untreated cases of syphilis were reported. Last year the total was down to 10,624 and indications are that this year will show a similar trend.

In addition to the decline in total syphilis reported, there has been an even sharper reduction in the number of early infectious cases. This number has been reduced from 3,683 in 1943 to 785 last year and should drop even further this year.

This marked decline in the number of cases discovered in the communicable stage is heartening to public officials, said Dr. Walter, for in reducing this stage of the disease, the latent reservoirs which harbor candidates for our mental institutions and thousands of incapacitated economic burdens, are prevented from increasing. This goal is being brought closer to realization, reported the doctor, as evidenced by the following figures:

In 1943, almost 15 percent of the total admissions to mental institutions in Florida were due to syphilis of the brain and nervous system. This figure has been steadily declining and today, 10 years later, is less than 6 percent.

Other yardsticks on the effect of the venereal disease control program are: Deaths attributed to syphilis have dropped from 399 in 1943 to 149 in 1952. Deaths due to syphilis in children under one year are down from 28 to 2 for the same period.

Probably the single most important development in the venereal disease control program was the advent of penicillin in the treatment of syphilis and gonorrhea in 1943. Since penicillin was first proved to be the most effective and practical drug for the treatment of these two diseases, it has been developed to the point where today gonorrhea can be cured with one injection and almost all syphilis cases require only three injections to be completely cured.

The most pressing need in venereal disease control today, according to Dr. Walter, is finding cases early before they become sources of infection. To accomplish this, communicable disease specialists working out of county health departments spend much of their time interviewing patients with venereal disease, getting from them the names of persons with whom they have been in intimate contact and bringing these contacts to examination and treatment by health departments and private physicians.

The most prevalent venereal disease in Florida and the nation is gonorrhea. The number of cases has been reduced from 18,857 in 1943 to 11,809 last year.

The three other venereal diseases in order of prevalence and reduction in cases over the past 10 years are, chancroid, from 844 to 462; granuloma inguinale, from 233 to 234; yphagthia venereum, from 254 to 120.

SLOW DRIVERS PRODDED

The Florida Highway Patrol is still dead set against the speeder whose highway behavior causes the most deaths, but Comdr. H. N. Kirkman wants the slow driver prodded along for safety's sake.

Kirkman said recently that he has sent orders down the line for state troopers to speed up the slowpoke driver who causes a traffic bottleneck, rolls nonchalantly along, more often than not is never involved in the crash he might cause.

Complaints come into state headquarters almost every week from irate motorists who have trailed behind a long line of autos while some slowpoke held up the normal flow of traffic. The patrol is going to accelerate its activities against the lag along driver under a state law which makes it a violation to travel so slowly that movement of traffic along the highway is impeded.

"The action of the slow driver is developing into one of our grave problems on Florida highways," said Kirkman. "A slowpoke is seldom involved in an accident, although he may contribute indirectly to many." The slow driver can cause accidents when impatient motorists try to pass and swerve another auto, or have head-on collisions trying to pass a bottleneck of traffic on a busy highway.

"You hardly ever hear of a slowpoke being involved in a wreck, but they are causing more and more concern," declared Kirkman.

The patrol is going to continue its crackdown on motorists who exceed the lawful 60 miles per hour in the daytime and 50 at night, but it wants the 20 mile per hour drivers on congested highways to move on or get off.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
December 5, 1933, just 20 years ago, Uncle Sam, who was feeling mighty low at the time, climbed down off the wagon, threw away his white ribbon and poured himself a good stiff jolt of honest, legal, lawful liquor. That date marked the repeal of prohibition and the beginning of a new era in the nation's history.

The old boy uttered a deep sigh of relief for he was plenty fed up with, cane, skimming, moonshine, bath tub gin, hair tonic, grain alcohol and a mess of other questionable beverages he had been fooling with.

He was tired of having to remember if it was two or three knocks you had to make on the back door or whether you

Oil House
Heaters, Pumps
Welcome Yule Gift

Christmas gifts for the home are always popular. An outstanding gift that provides comfort and healthful living for the entire family is an attractive and efficient oil house heater.

Even in homes already built, it is simple to install permanent type floor furnace, fireplace heater or wall furnace which will operate efficiently for years to come. For apartments and small homes, streamlined portable type oil heaters are popular. They blend in perfectly with modern furnishings and do a fine heating job.

Throughout the nation, oil is the favorite choice for heating homes. Florida folks, too, find oil the most economical, safe and handy way of heating. In fact, the state ranks among the leaders in the nation for sales.

Long range predictions foretell one or more chilly spells, even in south Florida, if it is November through March, when the thermometer is expected to slide down as low as 30.

Christmas merriment may be chilly, but the family will gather to celebrate in warm comfort if Santa leaves an oil heater in the home!

ture, distribution and sale of these beverages under the supervision of duly constituted authorities. These authorities, along with their supervision of this legal industry, have directed their efforts against those engaged in bootlegging operations and have greatly curtailed their activities.

During the 20 years since the Repeal of Prohibition, the State of Florida has reaped $228,402, $19,684 in additional public revenue from alcoholic beverages, and this money has been used for such agencies as schools, hospitals and old age benefits.

Excessive taxation, which takes 36 percent of the price of distilled spirits, has reached a point where the moonshine and bootlegger can again afford to take the risk and operate at a profit and is a subject deserving careful study by both national and local lawmakers.

STETSON LAW SCHOOL
SETS NEW QUARTERS
AS GIFT IN ST. PETE

Stetson University has accepted from public spirited citizens of St. Petersburg and out-of-state friends gift of the unrestricted title to a million-dollar campus where a fully accredited College of Law unique in American legal education circles will be opened, next September in the Sunshine City.

The Stetson College of Law, the oldest in Florida, has been on the Deland campus since it was founded in 1901 in the request of the Florida bar.

Dr. J. Ollie Edmunds, Stetson's president, said the new buildings and several smaller structures of early Spanish monastic architecture, erected in 1927 as a resort hotel, are adequate for classrooms, offices and living quarters for the opening in September.

Stetson plans what probably will be one of the most interesting law centers in America—patterned after the famous legal "inns" of England, where students and faculty members live and study together. Addition of a model library and courtroom-auditorium in the same architecture is female. The third prize will be planned. The Stetson program includes a plan to invite prominent American lawyers to St. Petersburg as "guests-in-residence" to live at the Stetson law center and to lecture to the students as visiting professors. On the campus are recreational facilities such as tennis courts and a swimming pool. An 18-hole golf course is just across the street.

Remarking on the Deland campus will be the College of Liberal Arts, the School of Business, the School of Music and the graduate division of Stetson University.

Removal from Deland of the law school, came after a committee of law school alumni recommended to the university's trustees that the Stetson College of Law could serve better in a metropolitan area. In a city, the students will have the advantages of more courts and more law offices where they may receive apprenticeship training.

THREE HOUR TALENT
SEARCH OVER WIRK

Friday night, Dec. 18 the Palm Beaches will witness the first simulcast, giant telethon ever conducted in this area, through the cooperation of television station WIRK-TV and radio station WIRK.

A mammoth three-hour talent search will be conducted. This talent search is in connection with the Rosarian Academy Scholarship Drive, which is designed to provide free scholarships for deserving girls of high school age. The talent search will be conducted in the form of a contest under the supervision of the Broadway producer-director and producing director of the Palm Beach Play House, Paul Crabtree.

The winner of the talent search will receive an all-expense round-trip one week's vacation in New York City for two, and appointments for auditions for the principal television and radio shows are being arranged for, during the winner's visit to New York. The second prize is a complete $500 wardrobe; for male or female. The third prize will be an all-expense, one-week holiday vacation for two. The first auditions will be held on Saturday, Dec. 12 from 10:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. on the stage of the Paramount Theater in Palm Beach. Any singer, dancer, musician, or novelty act of any and all ages and from any town or city in Florida may audition. No application is necessary. Contestants are to come to the Paramount on the day. From these first auditions 12 finalists will be selected to appear on the simulcast radio and TV broadcast on Dec. 18. Contestants may bring their own accompanists or an accompanist will be on hand if needed.

The final winners will be selected by the listening audience by calling in their votes during the three-hour program. This entire activity is being conducted by prominent laymen of greater Palm Beach to provide educational opportunities for deserving girls of all faiths.

DRIVING SCHOOLS TO BE
LICENSED IN FLA. JAN. 1

A 1953 legislative act, which regulates the licensing of commercial driving schools, goes into effect next January 1 and makes Florida the third state to enact such a law.

The Florida Department of Public Safety is charged with the administration of the law which is designed to protect the public against unqualified commercial driving school operators and to unify the procedure of teaching methods.

Director H. N. Kirkman of the department said recently that all commercial driving school operators in the state are asked to send in a list of any school or schools that they operate so that preliminary meetings might be arranged for the issuance of permits is begun.

In the past, commercial operators had been required only to purchase an occupational license without any strict qualification requirement. The law was enacted chiefly through the instigation and insistence of commercial schools who want to eliminate any preying on the public by unqualified operators.

The new law requires a $10 application fee, and another $15 at the time the department issues a certificate which will entitle the holder to a year's operation. Annual renewals will be at the rate of $25.00. New York was the first state to enact such a law and in 1932 Pennsylvania became second 10 years later.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS PLAN
BY NAT'L SAFETY COUNCIL

To prevent the reckless spending of lives every Christmas, the National Safety Council in Chicago today called on Americans to join in a nationwide Christmas savings plan to stop accidents.

The Council's yuletide ledger shows a loss of 740 lives, from all accidents, during the Christmas holidays last year — and the toll of 556 lives in traffic was the highest on record. "It is time," Ned H. Dearborn, Council president, said, "for America to start saving — and stop squandering — lives. If every American will join this Christmas savings plan before the Christmas holidays, a real yuletide monum — human life — will be paid."

The Council suggests four safety measures for Christmas pleasures:

1. Start automobile trips early and take it easy. Be extremely cautious in bad weather and darkness. Watch out for pedestrians.
2. Keep Christmas trees in water and away from fire. Be sure lights and electrical connections are in good condition.
3. Watch out for falls, at home and away from home. Be wary of icy sidewalks. Falls are second only to traffic as accident killers.
4. Be moderate in drinking, and don't drive if you have been drinking. Tipsy pedestrians and drinking drivers are most common during the holidays.

Less than one-seventh of all U. S. commercial farms take up nearly half the total farmland. The one-seventh, however, produces over half of the total farm income, according to a research conducted by the Ohio Farm Bureau recently.

You can have a proud dad, son, or husband, if you'll give him a Remington automatic shotgun to hunt with during the holidays. Telephone 2520. Hardware Store, Belle Glade, 12-18-53.

Recommended control of wireworm and other soil pests ... on all Florida vegetable crops

adrin

LAST YEAR adrin established a fine record of soil pest control on Florida corn, sugar cane and sweet potatoes. Now adrin is recommended by Florida Experiment Stations for use on every important vegetable crop in the state.

Adrin gives you these important control advantages:

1. Powerful killing action—all season freedom from soil pest damage with just one application.
2. Chemical stability—Adrin remains stable regardless of the pH of the soil (acid or alkaline). This stability holds even when adrin is mixed with fertilizer.
3. Can be used two ways—in an adrin-fertilizer mix, or sprayed directly on the ground and harrowed up.
4. Low per-acre cost—a direct result of adrin's high killing power.

So—for healthy crops get adrin. Your fertilizer or insecticide dealer can supply you.

CHRYSLER HAS BIG NOV. PRODUCTION IN NEW 1954 MODELS

Chrysler's 1954 announcement month has been the best in the Division's 30-year history, reports E. M. Braden, general sales manager, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

"Sales of our new 1954 235-horsepower Chrysler New Yorker Deluxe models are far ahead of last year and orders are running well ahead of production," Braden said. "To keep our dealers supplied with cars to meet public demand we produced over 11,400 cars in November despite production problems and the time lost at the Thanksgiving holiday. In November, 1952, we produced 10,655 cars."

"The 1954 announcement has been the best in this Division's history with showroom traffic and general public interest in our cars at a new high."

Braden said that he was sure that the combination of the 235-horsepower FirePower X-8 engine, the new fully-automatic PowerFite transmission, full-time steering and power brakes, new anti-roll front suspension and the most beautiful exteriors and interiors Chrysler has ever offered are responsible for the outstanding acceptance accorded the new models.

"In order to spur public interest in the power and beauty offered by Chrysler this year we used the greatest newspaper advertising campaign ever developed by the Division for a new model announcement and we intend to continue to advertise more frequently and use larger ads than ever before," Braden said.

"A larger factor in the success of the 1954 model announcement has been the great enthusiasm shown throughout the country by our 3,400 dealers who today represent the strongest, best financed, best equipped dealer body we have ever had and from whom we are getting the sales enthusiasm

Added Power, Performance Mark Chevrolet

The two-toned four-door sedan in the "210" Series typifies the new beauty and smartness of the Chevrolet line for 1954. The "210" Series is one of three offered by the company in an array of 13 body models.

lifts but to make all parts stronger and more durable. Hydraulic valve lifters have been redesigned for more reliable operation. A composite camshaft drive gear, having an aluminum alloy ring, a synthetic rubber insulator and cast alloy iron hub, replaces the bakelite and fabric gear with steel hub. XCR alloy steel is utilized for exhaust valves for greater strength at high temperatures and resistance to scaling and pitting.

A new cast alloy iron camshaft in the "125" has greater resistance to twisting at higher speeds. More strength is built into rocker shafts by a reduction in the diameter attachment holes at each end. A cast alloy iron distributor drive gear replaces the former steel type to reduce wear on the camshaft.

Another mechanical improvement in the Blue Flame "125" is applied to prevent stalling follow cold starts. To allow for heavy acceleration demands during warm-up, the thermostat spring in the automatic choke has been stiffened and the vacuum piston increased in diameter.

The Blue Flame "115" engine introduces into the so-called standard power train such features as full-pressure lubrication, aluminum pistons, insert-type connecting rod bearings and a more rigid crankshaft and connecting rods. As true of the "125", displacement is 235 cubic inches with the engine reaching 115 horsepower at 3700 rpm. Compression ratio lists at 7.5 to 1. Better economy and smoother, quieter operation are characteristics.

Smoother acceleration is provided by a carburetor change to afford a better balance in fuel mixture. The result is a double step in the fuel valve into the carburetor passage which maintains peak efficiency in mixture during changing load conditions.

The new clutch assembly which Chevrolet has engineered for gearshift models has smoother operation and greater reliability. In the previous design the pressure plate was driven from the clutch cover by three lugs. With the re-engineering of the part, the lugs are replaced by three equally spaced, spring steel straps. The straps are riveted to the cover assembly and bolted to the pressure plate. Since the binding of the slots is now eliminated, the pressure plate always makes a full pressure contact with the driven plate for transfer of torque to the drive train.

Also in gearshift models changes have been incorporated in the synchro-mesh transmission for increased durability and ruggedness. All gears are now shot-peened a finer hardening and needle bearings have been introduced on the counter gear shaft.

More power, an extension of the automatic transmission option to all cars, and design revisions to accentuate the low, flowing beauty of the three body series highspot the 1954 Chevrolets.

The latest models, scheduled to go on display at dealer showrooms nationally, Friday, December 18, benefit as well from re-styled interiors, a wider choice of rich colors and color harmonies and chassis advances to assure quieter operation with increased performance.

Power brakes, adding safety and driving control, become optional for the first time in the low-price field with the introduction. As still another "first" in Chevrolet's market, electric front seat and window lifters are also available. This convenience provides passenger car comfort through push button control.

Given special prominence in the presentation is the Bel Air Series, which Chevrolet pioneered so successfully as a luxury car a year ago. An eight-passenger station wagon brings to five the number of Bel Air body types. The company has also announced that convertibles will be hereafter concentrated in this series.

Another departure in the line-up of 1954 passenger car models is the introduction of a utility sedan in the "One-Fifty" or low-price series. This body, replacing the former business coupe, offers an amazing 54 cubic feet of storage space.

Again in 1954 Chevrolets will be powered by a choice of two engines, each more powerful and responsive than its 1953 counterpart. The 115-horsepower "Blue Flame" engine is used in gearshift models. An engine of 125-horsepower couples with the Powerglide automatic shift, now available on all cars, including the sedan delivery.

Other chassis advances cover improvements in the clutch of gearshift models, a longer, deeper-tuned and sound deadening muffler, and nylon rear spring inserts to eliminate the necessity for lubrication.

In appearance the 1954 Chevrolets have a longer, more rugged look. Designed for a broader, lower effect, the front bumper has been cradled farther around the fender. The grille, bumper guards, parking lamps and hood ornamentation have been modified to conform with the new motif. Although the brightwork of the individual series profiles remains much the same, design touches at the rear re-emphasize the distinction of the line.

Of prime interest are the two-tone interiors of the bodies. Styles have taken full advantage of new fabrics to combine eye-appeal and practicability. A lavish use of vinyl, an easily washed material, is apparent. In the Bel Air Series interior fabrics are nylon-faced cloth and vinyl while in other series tasteful complements of vinyls and new, modern fabrics have been worked out.

The Powerglide automatic transmission, now in service on more than 1,500,000 Chevrolets, is continued with modifications for improved high speed acceleration. The new engine with which Powerglide is teamed will appreciably boost performance, particularly in the higher speed ranges when emergency power is required for passing or hill climbing.

The power plant in the Powerglide option uses the time-proven valve-in-head design in principle with 125-horsepower available at 4000 revolutions per minute. An eight-valve installation of high-lift cams and improvement in valve mechanism to make possible a freer intake of combustion mixtures and a more complete expulsion of exhaust gases. The result is increased breathing efficiency at 7.5 to 1.

Improvements in valve mechanism were adopted not only to conform with the higher cam

Small Business Committee, I have come to know and understand many of the problems facing the independent single industry and business in Florida and throughout the nation. It was for this reason that I fought in the past session of the Congress for adequate laws to protect the U. S. business pattern which is distinguished by the right every man has to look forward to being his own boss. It is but a straw in the wind, but I want to report the response I have from the new Small Business Administration to the letter I wrote about in my newsletter last week. Dwight Entwistle, regional director, has assured me that a Florida office is to be opened soon. He added:

"The flood of loan inquiries from Florida has been tremendous in the last few weeks and will necessitate an adequate staff in Florida in the near future. . . as a resident of Florida and formerly conducting a small business on the east Coast, I am not only greatly interested in the state but keenly aware of the great potential there in the small business administration program."

Cotton, Cattle, Citrus: Hardly a week passes but we are engaged in helping with some farm problems. Are seeking to add five counties (Orange, Ocoee, Volusia, Lake, Polk) to the list for the emergency feed program. Also have Dept. of Ag. working to unravel complications which developed in the program regarding shipping of mixed and/or straight feed. . . Have protested to Sec. of Ag. Florida's drastic acreage cut in the 1954 cotton acreage allotment program (65,000 acres cut to 33,122). . . Gave Gordon Stedman a hand in attempting to work out fruit and vegetable shipping facilities problems with ICC.

Newsnotes of the Cuff. Many letters from friends saying how good it was to renew old-fashioned friendships at Miami Beach last weekend. (It was great for me too). . . Next week I am concluding my 100-day post-session Florida tour during which I have made 150 appearances (speeches to you); final will be at Jacksonville Dec. 16 at 60th anniversary of the Duval Medical Association. . . My staff gave a hand to "Operation Santa Claus" staged by John Jones at Tampa recently and furnished the clue for the means to get transportation of various goods contributed to Korean needy children.

Colonnades Headquarters For Sailfish Tournament

More than four-score of the world's leading light-tackle anglers will arrive in West Palm Beach this weekend for the Ninth annual International Sailfish tournament which gets underway for three days starting Dec. 8.

The tournament this year is attracting teams from Rhode Island to Panama Canal Zone, from Hawaii to the Bahama Islands.

This will be the second time in three years that one big game-fishing enthusiasts have congregated in the Palm Beach for this international angling contest to try their skill in this area's world-famous sailfishing grounds.

This year's event, sponsored by a trio of angling clubs, is under the direction of John Mahony, Miami, president of the International Sailfish Tournament Association, and John Rybovich, Jr., West Palm Beach, local tournament committee chairman.

With the opening of this competition still days away, several three-man teams already are scouting the nearby Gulfstream fishing grounds. Others will be arriving daily, and when the official competition gets underway, some 30 or more teams will be offshore battling for Florida's famous sailfish.

Anglers will fish for two days, Dec. 8 and 9, take a breather on Dec. 10 when the ladies take their crack at the sailfish and the men then wind up the tourney on Dec. 11.

Sections represented by teams thus far registered include Mexico, Canada, Puerto Rico, Panama, Hawaii, Bahamas, Iceland, Cuba, and teams from New York to California. . . Both New York and California are sending large team delegations. Cuba, represented for the first time this year, is sending two three-man teams.

Theme of the tournament again will be conservation. Few sails, except for outstanding catches for special prizes, will actually be hoisted and brought to the dock. To encourage anglers to free their fish, sails released alive at the end of a fight will mean more points for both team and individual angler than sails which are hoisted on the 30-odd topnotch cruisers selected for this sport event.

Headquarters for the tournament this year will be the Colonnades Hotel on Palm Beach Shores, one of this section's newest and most beautiful resort settlements.

CHILDREN'S HOME HAVING TROUBLE MEETING NEEDS

The Children's Home Society, for several years located at 1649 Oceola Street, will move on December 3rd to 3027 San Diego Road, occupying one of the buildings at the Jacksonville Receiving Home. The property on Oceola Street will be sold and the money placed in the reserve fund of the Society, which is being used month by month to meet the deficit costs of operation due to increased demands and higher expenses, as experienced by every business these days. It has been possible to reorganize the functions in the Jacksonville Receiving Home so as to make one of the buildings available for headquarters and at the same time provide adequate service for the children.

At the present time the Society has approximately 165 children in Receiving Homes and boarding homes throughout the State, and an additional 246 in adoptive homes, making slightly more than 400 under the care or general supervision of the Society day by day. Efforts are being made to interview promptly the very large backlog of couples who have applied to get children. At the present time there are more than 340 such applications, with the possibility of providing only about 150 to 180 children in the next twelve months. Efforts are also being made to modify procedures so that within the near future studies of applicants can be made within ninety days of application, with the hope that the placement of a child can be made within nine to twelve months after approval of an application.

The demand is still greater than the supply and in a way this is good for it indicates a more satisfactory solution in the social problem as far as the needs of neglected and abandoned children are concerned.

The Society is constantly working to care for all of the needy children referred to it, even those who are not adoptable for some physiological reason who are definitely placed on temporary care by the Courts. For the rest, it will do its utmost to arrange for adoption at the earliest possible moment.

By Herb Mosher

QUAIL HUNTING:—a report on a quail hunt (opening day) in particular, and on the quail hunting in general. Let's start with the general situation. I find quail extremely plentiful. Covies so large that if you tell people how many birds are in covey they'll simply say, "What were you drinking?" or similar humor. On the other hand, these covies, large and small, have had a way of hiding pretty successfully from hunters since the opening days of the quail season. Every hunter I've talked with to date tells the same story. Lots of quail around early, and plenty still left, but the birds are hard to find! Even during the past few days, on Dec. 10th to be exact, I've come on large covies of quail which are still quite tame, but the birds have a way of being able to take care of themselves. Most shooters have a way of becoming terribly excited when the bob whistles go up. They then, as a rule, shoot far under the birds, to say nothing of, at times, both under and well to one side! I'd say not 5 per cent of the quail crop has been bagged by hunters to date.

The opening day on quail proved a flop, just as the opening day on ducks had been a fine success. I was hunting with a man who does not need to be mentioned by name, but his prize dog, "Ruby," was the cause of the really comical hunt which we got on that day. The dog, "Ruby," had been highly recommended and, no doubt, at home they played that song, "Ruby" on the phonograph to emphasize what a fine dog this pointer was. Anyhow, come opening day we went out with "Ruby," the jewel, the prized possession, the dog with the nose for quail and the ability to find them and to hold the point. What a surprise we had in store. "Ruby's" owner finally found a covey of quail himself—the bird numbered around 64 by count, as they slowly crossed the little country road. We put "Ruby" into the picture, or tried to, but "Ruby" refused to go ahead and point the quail. Finally the lap dog did blunder into the covey. The owner of the pooch got in one shot, whereupon "Ruby" took off down that country road at a clip which would undoubtedly break all running records at any dog track. Her owner, fast on the trigger, then turned the gun on "Ruby," the wonderful quail dog. Some of the nines must have caught up with her, for poor Ruby did the mile down that country road, in almost nothing flat. I would not myself shoot at a dog, no matter what, but this is the story of "Ruby" and the famous quail hunt, opening day. The dog turned up, after an hour's hunt, and that was the end of the day as far as quail went. A dog, surely, whose price is not "beyond rubies."

INCOME FROM REAL ESTATE AFFECTS SOCIAL SECURITY

Inquiries received from local residents indicate a need for an explanation of the Social Security Law regarding income received from the rental of real estate.

"In general," Mr. Gehrken said, "income received from the rental of real estate is not covered by the Social Security Law and is not taxable as self-employment income for social security purposes. This applies to rent from apartments, a private home, or commercial property."

"There are, however, two exceptions to this general rule. If a person is a real estate dealer, rentals from real estate are covered as self-employment income. Thus, a person who buys and sells real estate for the profit he makes on the resale must report this income and pay the social security tax on it. A person who buys and holds real estate as an investment does not report this income on his annual social security report nor pay the social security tax on it."

"The other exception pertains to payments received for rooms or other space where personal services are rendered to the occupant. For instance, payments received for board and room are covered by the Social Security Law. Also, if maid service is provided for the occupant, the payments received are covered by the law."

Anyone having questions concerning the social security status of income received from property may contact the West Palm Beach Social Security office, located at 501 North Olive Avenue.

Folks! why don't you come out and visit our Municipal Golf Course. Just driving by you can't see all the improvements that have been made in the last few weeks.

The Club house is fairly beaming. The porches are so epic and span and look so inviting since their new paint job. The chimney has a red paint job and all the paneling looks like new in the club room.

The course looks beautiful, new shrubbery and trees have been planted and the other trees and bushes trimmed, the fairways are in good shape and the greens are ready for play. Flag poles have been painted and new flags have been added, also new tee balls.

This community should be proud to have a place to entertain parties, play golf or just visit. You'll have time to get out for that golf game during the holidays, and bring your friends. Be seeing you!

Why not give your family a golf membership for Christmas or for him a single membership? Single $30 or family $50, for the year 1954.
